Tepa Wins Marketing Awards in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI (April 13, 2017) – The Tepa marketing department brought home two awards from the Kansas City Chapter of the Society of Marketing Professional Services’ (SMPS-KC) 2017 Annual Gala and Marketing Communications Awards. The SMPS-KC awards recognize excellence in the marketing and business development of architecture, engineering and construction services.

Tepa marketing coordinator, Victoria Mechtly, won Marketer of the Year, the highest award given by the Kansas City Chapter. She has been an active member of SMPS-KC since 2014 and currently serves as chairwoman of its Mentor Program.

Up against companies more than ten times its size, Tepa’s marketing department won second place in the Print Brochure category for its Tukah Technologies-branded folder and set of seven corresponding brochures. The folder/brochures combination showcases Tukah’s capabilities and expertise in the geospatial and managed IT industries.

Employees involved in the creation and production of the folder/brochures combination are Matt Metcalf, Katie Blakemore and Angie Samuelson of Tepa, and Mike Ostrom, Terry Pallotto and Jeff Krecic of Tukah Technologies.
